Richard L. Thornburgh

Richard L. Thornburgh Hooding Speaker

Richard L. Thornburgh became Attorney General of the United States on August 12, 1988, following a unanimous confirmation vote by the Senate. His extensive background in law enforcement and public service prepared him well for responsibilities as the chief legal officer for the United States Government and administrative head of the Department of Justice. His prior professional career includes service as Director, Institute of Politics, John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University (1987-88); Governor of the State of Pennsylvania for two terms (1978-86); Assistant Attorney General of the United States, in charge of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice (1975-77); United States Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania (1969-75); elected delegate to the Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention involving reform of the judicial system and local government (1967-68); and as a practicing lawyer in his native Pittsburgh.

Attorney General Thornburgh has a distinguished record in the fight against crime and drugs, prosecuting major organized crime figures and corrupt public officials. Today, he plays a key role in the Bush administration's war on drugs and last year argued the government's successful drug-testing case before the Supreme Court of the United States. As Governor, his administration's program on crime significantly reduced the State's rate of serious crimes.

Richard Thornburgh has made major contributions beyond the criminal justice system. During his term as Governor, he helped revitalize the Pennsylvania economy by reducing taxes and government payrolls, and by initiating economic development to stimulate employment and economic diversification. His programs on welfare, education and transportation were nationally acclaimed. As a highly respected public servant, he has had the opportunity to meet with leaders throughout the nation and the world.

Attorney General Thornburgh holds a degree in engineering from Yale University, a law degree from the University of Pittsburgh, and honorary degrees from twenty-five colleges and universities.

Outstanding Academic Achievement Recognitions

The following students (alphabetically and not by ranking) represent approximately the upper 10 percent of the 1990 Graduating Class based upon academic performance through the conclusion of five of six semesters of law study. Ranking for official degree honors and election to the Order of the Coif cannot be determined until submission of all final grades for May graduates. Numerical divisions among students for special honors are often determined by very narrow margins and the composition of the final upper 10 percent of the Class may vary from those students herein recognized.

Outstanding Professor Award

Awarded by election of the members of the third-year class in recognition of outstanding performance as a teacher.

Professor David Williams, II

Since joining the faculty of the College of Law in the fall of 1986, Professor David Williams has won the respect of the students not only as a talented classroom teacher but as a concerned mentor. His interest in student welfare is demonstrated by his accessibility to students, his teaching of the Legal Methods course, his personal commitment to the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program, and his increasingly popular informal seminar for third-year students on personal financial planning. His newly approved seminar in Sports Law responds to an expanding student interest in this field of study. Professor Williams' interest in education began as a teacher and coach in the Detroit Public Schools for ten years preceding his legal training.

Professor Williams brings to his teaching of Federal Income Taxation, International Taxation, and Tax Practice and Procedure a sound background in tax practice. Immediately before entering teaching, he was a Supervising Tax Specialist with Coopers and Lybrand. He also has served as managing editor of the Michigan Tax Law Journal, published by the Tax Section of the Michigan Bar. This past fall, he was invited to Europe as a member of the American Bar Association's Special Delegation to the European Economic Community to discuss with foreign leaders economic and legal policies impacting foreign trade.

Professor Williams received both his B.S. and M.A. in Education degrees from Northern Michigan University, his M.B.A. and J.D., magna cum laude, degrees from the University of Detroit, and his LL.M. degree in Taxation from New York University. Effective July 1, he will be promoted to Associate Professor with tenure.

The Juris Doctor Hood

Ceremony and symbolism share an important part of the human experience by providing tangible signs of personal achievement and commitment. Today, the investment of the Juris Doctor Hood and the presentation of the diploma case, soon to be filled with the official Juris Doctor degree of The Ohio State University, acknowledge hard work, dedication, and exceptional academic achievement of the graduates of the Class of 1990. The investment of the hood also manifests for each recipient a continuing commitment to the values and objectives represented by the Juris Doctor degree. This ceremony marks for the members of the Class of 1990 passage from the status of student to entry into the learned profession of the law.

The wearing of the academic hood is a centuries-old tradition. It is an enduring symbol of high academic achievement, and it shall be the privilege of each recipient so invested to wear this hood and gown whenever in the future such academic attire is appropriate. The colors of the hood have their own symbolism. The color of purple represents the study of law and the conferral of the Juris Doctor degree. The colors of the hood lining represent the degree-granting institution, the scarlet and gray of The Ohio State University.

The Hooding Committee

The Student Bar Association Hooding Committee is comprised of third-year students and two second-year students serving as sergeants-at-arms. The Committee is responsible for coordinating all activities related to graduation, including both the December and May Hooding Ceremonies. The Committee members and their responsibilities for 1989-90 are:

Elizabeth Jean Watters	— Chair; Class Composite
Eric S. Bravo	— Hooding Speaker
Barbara S. Brown	— Outstanding Professor Award; Class Gift
Annette Marie Houck	— Hooding Ceremony

With Appreciation

Members of the Class of 1990 express their sincere appreciation to family and friends who share this graduation celebration with them today and who, with others, have given invaluable support throughout their educational careers.

The Class of 1990 also express their appreciation to Dean Francis X. Beytagh, Assistant Dean Joanne Wharton Murphy, and Jenifer Bernard Rasor for their planning assistance, to all those who are participating in this ceremony today, and to the faculty for their educational guidance and support during the past three years.
